HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

Willard Preble Hall was born May 9, 1820 in Harpers Ferry, Virginia to John Hancock Hall and wife Statira Preble. After graduating from Yale College in 1839, Hall relocated to Missouri to study law under his brother, William Augustus Hall (later a U.S. Congressman), eventually settling in St. Joseph. Hall was married twice; October 28, 1847, to Anne Elizabeth Richardson and after her death in 1862; to Olivia L. Oliver, the daughter of Missouri Secretary of State Mordecai Oliver, on June 22, 1864.

In 1844, Hall served as a presidential elector for Democratic candidate James K. Polk. He was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1846 while serving with Alexander W. Doniphan and the 1st Missouri Volunteers during the Mexican War. While in New Mexico, Hall and Doniphan, developed a code of laws by which the New Mexico Territory would be governed. New Mexico was governed by the "Kearney Code" for the next 45 years.

Congressman Hall took his seat in 1847 and served two more terms before refusing further election. Throughout his congressional tenure, Hall advocated the expansion of U.S. territory and the improvement of railroads and schools in Missouri. In December 1851, Congressman Hall unsuccessfully introduced legislation to organize the Platte Territory and settle lands immediately west of Missouri. Stephen Douglas revised the legislation into what became known as the Kansas-Nebraska Act and consequently, the Kansas and Nebraska Territories were created.

Hall returned to his law practice in St. Joseph, making an abortive attempt at a U.S. Senate seat in 1856. After the state convention of July 1861vacated statewide offices, Hall was chosen to serve as lieutenant governor. After Governor Gamble died in office on January 31, 1864, Lieutenant Governor Hall became the seventeenth governor of Missouri. He served until Thomas Clement Fletcher was sworn in on January 2, 1865.

Governor Hall returned to his law practice in 1865 and was elected the first president of the Missouri Bar Association in 1880. Willard Preble Hall died at his farm in St. Joseph on November 2, 1882 and is interred in Mount Mora Cemetery.

RECORDS OF GOVERNOR WILLARD PREBLE HALL, 1862-1865

Scope and Content

As one of the smallest collections of governor's records, the records give little insight into the administration of Governor Hall. Documents include commissions, letters of recommendation, a resignation from office, and correspondence relating to prisoners. The records from 1862 are from a period early in that year when he was acting as governor in Gamble's stead. The records are arranged by type of document and thereunder in chronological order.

All references to places are within the state of Missouri unless indicated, and county is specified when known. The spelling of proper names varies greatly. When correct spelling could not be determined the original spelling was retained. Officeholders are Missouri officials unless noted (U.S. Senator, U.S. Secretary of State, U.S. Attorney General, U.S. Supreme Court, etc). State Representatives are referred to as Representative. U.S. Representatives are noted with the title Congressman.

After the collection was microfilmed, it was determined that some of the collection required rehousing. As a result, some folder numbers have changed. Original folder numbers are noted within parentheses. For example, 1 (3) indicates that the item originally in folder 3 is now located in folder 1.
