SECRETARY OF STATE

State of Missouri
Office of Administration
Division of Budget and Planning

Policy Statement for State and Local Review and Comment Process

The Office of Administration is charged with implementing this policy as directed by Executive Order 83-6, dated March 15, 1983. This policy statement has been developed and approved by the Task Force on State and Local Review and Comment formed by Governor Christopher S. Bond on December 23, 1982.

The Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning, is designated as the primary point of contact to communicate state and local concerns to federal agencies within the purview of Presidential Executive Order 12372. The state's regional planning commissions (RPCs) are designated as the primary forum for local elected officials' review and comment on federal programs to be conducted at open and public meetings. The RPCs will select from any or all of the following categories the programs which they desire to review and comment upon:

- All categorical grant-in-aid programs identified in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance;
- Research and demonstration programs affecting states or municipalities;
- All federal real property acquisition and construction activities, including Corps of Engineers projects and military bases;
- Major changes in the use of land, water or real property owned or leased by the federal government;
- The issuance or modification of licenses and permits; and
- Planning requirements mandated by the federal government.

The review process will begin when an applicant submits a request for funds to support a project or when a federal agency proposes a new program or a change in the present system. Requests for funds should include a description of the project by type, purpose, general size or scale, estimated cost, beneficiaries, and other characteristics which will help to evaluate the application as well as to identify local governments or others having plans, programs, or projects which might be affected as a result of the proposal. A standard form will be used to present this information. Copies of applications should be directed to the Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning, and to the regional review agencies affected. All reviews will be conducted in a timely and expeditious manner.

At the state level, the Office of Administration will continue to list requests for federal funds on a weekly or biweekly index which is sent to state agencies, interested members of the legislature and their staff and local elected officials.
