Though its functions date back to 1847, the Missouri Department of Mental Health was first established as a cabinet-level state agency by the Omnibus State Government Reorganization Act, effective July 1, 1974.

State law provides three principal missions for the department: (1) the prevention of mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse; (2) the treatment, habilitation and rehabilitation of Missourians with those conditions; and (3) the improvement of public understanding and attitudes about mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse.

The vision of the Department of Mental Health is one of "Lives Beyond Limitations." The vision is that Missourians shall be free to live their lives and pursue their dreams beyond the limitations of mental illness, developmental disabilities, alcohol and other drug abuse.

Missourians must know that mental illness is a treatable disease, persons with substance abuse problems can triumph over their addictions, and persons with developmental disabilities can be productive citizens and good neighbors in their communities.

Mental Health Commission

The commission, composed of seven members, appoints the director of the Department of Mental Health with confirmation of the Senate. Commissioners are appointed to four-year terms by the governor, again with the confirmation of the Senate. The commissioners serve as principal policy advisers to the department director.

The commission, by law, must include an advocate of community mental health services, a physician who is an expert in the treatment of mental illness, a physician concerned with developmental disabilities, a member with business expertise, an advocate of substance abuse treatment, a citizen who represents the interests of consumers of psychiatric services and a citizen who represents the interests of consumers of developmental disabilities services.

Office of the Director

With advice from the Mental Health Commission, the director is responsible for overall operations of the department, its three operating divisions, six support offices, 28 facilities and central office. The director's duties include planning, supervising and evaluating the provision of services for Missourians with mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse.

Each year the department provides direct services to more than 100,000 Missourians through the Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services, the Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities and the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

The Office of Administration, headed by the department's deputy director for administration, provides a range of administrative and financial services to help the department achieve effective results. The office's services can be divided into the following areas: fiscal management accounts for all funds, manages expenditures and produces fiscal summaries, analyses, and reports; capital improvements/general services provides guidance on construction, maintenance and repair for 27 state-owned facilities, and coordinates leases; contracts management secures more than 4,500 private agencies or individuals to provide services in the community; reimbursements collects payments from private insurance, Medicaid and Medicare, and private pay for department services; budget services develops and monitors the annual operating and lease budgets and oversees spending plans; revenue management maximizes all available revenue streams to effectively manage financial resources; and dietetic services coordinates services to dietitians in the state facilities and provides department-wide consultation on food management and nutrition.

The Office of Consumer Affairs provides consumer and family views in policy making, aids in accessing services and ensures that client rights are protected.

The Office of Quality Management is currently responsible for a myriad of Department-wide and statewide functions in support of the Department Director's Office, the three direct client care divisions and the other support offices. Those functions serve to coordinate and implement quality improvement processes to enhance division services to clients through the following mechanisms:

- Survey, licensure and certification of facilities and treatment programs, including technical assistance;
- Technical assistance to, and staff support of, major federal and state initiatives;
- Internal and external audit services, related to compliance, financial, and performance reviews;
- Abuse and neglect investigations and associated technical assistance for local investigations;
- Direction and coordination of CQI and outcomes evaluation processes, including annual customer satisfaction survey, web based reporting of results and other DMH outcome/performance based data collection and reporting;
- Appeals and hearings for administrative due process;
- Coordination of the department's regulatory and records management processes;

- Statewide coordination of the department's emergency management response;

- Medical/clinical quality assurance and health care policy consultation to the department's management and facility operations.

The Office of Human Resources has department-wide responsibility for the development, implementation and coordination of human resources policies, procedures, and functions, including but not limited to, compensation, classification, labor relations, safety, discipline, and federal regulations compliance. The Office of Human Resources hopes to provide the employees of the Department of Mental Health with the same level of respect, consideration and service that the department provides its consumers of services.

The Office of Information Systems is responsible for identifying, implementing, and maintaining information and communication systems that improve the effectiveness of the Department of Mental Health.

The Office of Public Affairs is responsible for coordinating the department's public education efforts regarding mental health issues. Office staff develops and disseminates informational materials and helps to keep providers, consumers and the public informed of mental health programs, services and issues. The office also provides informational updates, support services, technical assistance and communications training to staff in the department's divisions, offices and facilities.

Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse

The Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse plans and funds prevention, treatment and rehabilitation programs for an illness that costs the state's economy more than $5.5 billion a year in lost productivity, social welfare costs and property damage. It is estimated that 378,000 Missouri adults need treatment and 114,000 adolescents need intervention or treatment services for alcohol and other drug abuse.

The division, established within the department in 1975, became a statutory entity with passage of the Omnibus Mental Health Act in 1980.

The division provides funding for prevention, outpatient, residential and detoxification services to community-based programs that work with the communities to develop and implement comprehensive coordinated plans.

The division provides technical assistance to these agencies and operates a certification program, which sets standards for treatment programs, qualified professional, alcohol and drug related educational programs.

Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services

The Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services provides inpatient and residential services for children and adults at ten (10) state-operated facilities. These include four long-term care facilities, three acute care hospitals, one facility with both acute and long-term services, one children's psychiatric hospital, and one children's residential treatment center.

In addition, the division contracts with not-for-profit community mental health centers to provide services for persons with mental illness in each of 25 geographic service areas. The agency responsible for service provision in each service area is designated as the division's administrative agent. The administrative agents are responsible for assessment and service delivery to eligible individuals in their geographic service area. This includes responsibility to provide follow-up services to persons who have been discharged from state-operated inpatient services. Children and their families are also served by administrative agents.

Supported community living programs are provided to individuals with mental illness who require financial subsidies to support their housing needs or need more structured services to live in the community. Living arrangements in this program range from nursing homes to apartments and other settings that are integrated into the community. Persons in these programs are provided support through case management and community psychiatric rehabilitation program services provided by administrative agents.

During fiscal year 2000, the division provided:

- inpatient services to 7,544 adults and 771 children;
- outpatient and community support to 52,113 adults and 9,784 children; and
- supported community living services to 5,698 adults and 280 children.

The State Advisory Council for Comprehensive Psychiatric Services

The State Advisory Council for Comprehensive Psychiatric Services was first established in 1977 by the governor's executive order. Members are appointed by the director of the Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services. The council is comprised of 25 members who advise and make recommendations on the development and coordination of a statewide inter-agency/inter-departmental system of care for children/youth with serious emotional disorders and persons with mental illness and their families. Through public education and advocacy efforts consumers of mental health services and their families have become an integral part of defining priorities for the division on issues surrounding accessible services, crisis intervention, children's services, recovery and budget. The council works with other mental health advocacy groups in planning and coordinating Mental Health Awareness Day, an event that brings together consumers, family members, mental health professionals and advocates throughout the state where they participate at the Capitol in educational seminars, media awards, and a rally to promote advocacy.

Fulton State Hospital, authorized in 1847 and opened in 1851, is the oldest public mental health facility west of the Mississippi River. The 505-bed hospital provides inpatient adult psychiatric services, including long-term care, for a 31-county area in the state's northeast quadrant.

The hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations since 1984. It has 21 beds certified for federal Medicaid or Medicare reimbursement.

The 64-bed Adult Psychiatric Center offers psychosocial rehabilitation services for long-term care patients. The hospital also operates a 24-bed group home complex on its grounds.

Fulton has Missouri's only maximum-security and intermediate-security settings for persons committed by the circuit courts for psychiatric treatment. The 222-bed Biggs Forensic Center provides treatment for those committed as not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect (NGRI) as well as pre-trial evaluations for those who require a maximum security setting. Also in Biggs is a cooperative treatment program with the Department of Corrections (D.O.C.) providing acute mental health care for inmates from D.O.C. The 175-bed Guhleman Forensic Center offers an intermediate security environment that Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center is a short-term, acute inpatient psychiatric facility located on the campus of the University of Missouri in Columbia. Completed in 1967, the center was the first comprehensive mental health center to be federally funded under the Center's Act of 1963. The center is accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations and is certified for federal reimbursement under the Medicaid and Medicare programs.

Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center serves the residents of a 31-county area located in the central, south central, north central and north-east sections of the state. Among the basic psychiatric services provided by the center are short-term inpatient care for children, adolescents and adults and an array of outpatient services for children and adolescents. The center's 69 inpatient beds are divided among four multi-disciplinary units; one 10-bed child and adolescent unit and three adult psychiatric units.

Through its affiliation with the University of Missouri-Columbia, Mid-Missouri Mental Health Center provides training for students in psychiatry, psychology, psychiatric social work, nursing, and activity and occupational therapies.

ty catchment area, and maintains a 76-bed minimum/campus-security, forensic unit for patients referred by the criminal courts for psychiatric evaluation and/or treatment.

By cooperative agreement with the Departments of Corrections and Mental Health, the Corrections Treatment Center (CTC) was established and operates on the grounds of Farmington Correctional Center. Within this unit, the mental health center staffs a small medium-security ward for inmates with psychiatric needs, and provides psychiatric coverage, case management and medication services for a 200-bed social rehabilitation unit.

In 1999 Southeast Missouri Mental Health Center opened the Sexually Violent Predator Treatment Program mandated by state statute. Through a process outlined by law, clients are court-ordered to the program after they have completed their sentence with the Department of Corrections. This is a 75-bed unit, housed on the mental health center grounds but within the Department of Corrections' fence.

Client placement and monitoring services are provided through the Supportive Community Living Program located on grounds, and outpatient services for an eight-county area of southeast Missouri are provided through the Administrative Agent contracted by the Department of Mental Health.

In December, 1997, Southwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center (SWMPRC) formerly Southwest Missouri Mental Health Center, moved into a new facility in El Dorado Springs from its previous location in Nevada. The 30-bed, adult psychiatric treatment facility provides both acute and long-term care for Service Area 8, and long-term backup care for Service Area 9 and 10. The three Service Areas are located in the CPS Southwest Region, consisting of 21 counties in Southwest Missouri.

The Administrative Agents are the entry and exit points for all DMH funded psychiatric services in the Southwest Region. Each Administrative Agent manages admissions to assigned beds at Southwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center based upon percentage of population. The facility accepts those persons in need of treatment for serious mental illness and mental disorders. The staff of the facility provides intensive psychosocial rehabilitation treatment, which facilitates a return to living in the community. Administrative Agent staff are involved with the treatment process and discharge planning by attending a monthly patient review meeting at the facility. Housing Support Services are also provided to clients residing in the Regional Supported Housing Program located in Nevada and El Dorado Springs.

Following discharge, community-based care and treatment is provided by staff of the Administrative Agents through the POS Program, the decentralized community placement program, and the Medicaid-funded targeted case management and CPRC programs. Treatment services are monitored by the staff of the Southwest Regional Supported Community Living Program, located in Nevada.

Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities

The Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, established in 1974, serves a population that has developmental disabilities such as mental retardation, cerebral palsy, head injury, autism, epilepsy and certain learning disabilities. Such conditions must have occurred before age 22 and are likely to continue indefinitely. To be eligible for services from the division, persons with these disabilities must be substantially limited in their ability to function independently.

The division improves the lives of persons with developmental disabilities through supports and services to enable those persons to live independently and productively. In 1988, the division began participation in the Medicaid Home and Community Based Waiver program, designed to help expand needed services throughout the state.

The division operates 17 facilities that provide or purchase specialized services. The 11 regional centers form the framework for the system and are backed by six habilitation centers that provide residential care and habilitation services for more severely disabled persons.

The regional centers, the primary points of entry into the system, provide assessment and case management services that include coordination of each eligible person's individualized plan.

Referrals may be made by a regional center to a habilitation center. Habilitation centers primarily serve persons who are severely disabled, behaviorally disordered, court-committed or medically fragile. All habilitation centers are Medicaid certified.

State and Regional Planning and Advisory Councils

The division receives consumer advice and planning assistance from the Missouri Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities and 11 regional councils. The regional council's members are drawn from areas served by the regional centers.

The Missouri Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities was created in 1971 under federal legislation. The council also serves, under Missouri statute, as the State Advisory Council on Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, providing advice to the division director and other state agencies that serve persons with developmental disabilities.

Missouri Planning Council members are appointed by the governor. The council develops and implements a state plan for services to Missourians with developmental disabilities.
