

Nancy Farmer

State Treasurer

Elected November 7, 2000 Term expires January 2005

NANCY FARMER (Democrat), became Missouri's 43rd State Treasurer when she took the oath of office on the steps of the state Capitol January 8, 2001. She is the first woman to serve as Missouri's chief financial officer in the state's 180-year history.

As Missouri State Treasurer, Farmer is responsible for managing the state's $19 billion in annual revenues; overseeing the state's banking services; managing Missouri's $3.1 billion investment portfolio; serving as trustee for more than $220 million in unclaimed property; and administering the state's $350 million MISSOURI FIRST Linked Deposit Program.

Treasurer Farmer brought prior experience to the office, having served as assistant state treasurer before becoming a candidate for State Treasurer. She is committed to making the Missouri State Treasurer's Office one of the most innovative and dynamic treasury offices in the nation. She is pledged to sound investment policies that maximize the state's return on investments without compromising the safety of the public's funds.

State Treasurer Farmer serves as chair of the Missouri Saving for Tuition or MO$T program, which she helped develop while serving as assistant state treasurer. MO$T encourages Missouri families to save for higher education while taking advantage of significant federal and state tax benefits.

Treasurer Farmer also oversees the Dollar$ & $ense bank-at-school program, a program that partners local banks and elementary schools to help teach students about the importance of setting goals and saving for the future. In addition, she serves on the management boards of the Missouri Housing Development Commission, the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System and the Board of Fund Commissioners, which oversees state debt issuance.

Treasurer Farmer has a long history of public service with an emphasis on public finance issues. Her involvement in St. Louis civic issues led her to become executive director of a non-profit neighborhood housing and development cooperative. She later served as director of intergovernmental affairs for the City of St. Louis.

She was elected state representative in 1992 from the 64th District in the City of St. Louis, and was re-elected twice. During her tenure in the legislature, Farmer chaired the powerful Ways and Means Committee and served on both the Budget and the Operations and Finance committees.

As chair of Ways and Means, Rep. Farmer led the effort to eliminate the state sales tax on groceries, one of the largest and most equitable permanent tax cuts in Missouri's history. She also worked to enact the Historic Preservation Tax Credit Program, which has spurred billions of dollars in investment and redevelopment across the state.

Born in 1956, Nancy Farmer was raised in Jacksonville, Illinois, and graduated from Illinois College in 1979. She also studied at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government in 1998. She is married to Darrell Hartke, an industrial-organizational psychologist. They make their home in the City of St. Louis.

Duties

The State Treasurer is Missouri state government's chief financial officer. The treasurer's office manages Missouri's $19 billion in annual state revenues; directs the state's banking services; and manages Missouri's $3.1 billion investment portfolio. The office safeguards more than $220 million in unclaimed assets that have been turned over to the state by banks, businesses, insurance companies and government agencies, and tries to locate the rightful owners. The state treasurer also serves on the management boards of a number of public entities.

The state treasurer is one of six statewide elected officials, and serves a term of four years. A person may only serve as state treasurer for two terms.

Banking Services

The state treasurer serves as Missouri government's banking director. While not a bank itself, the treasurer's office must authorize payments and balance accounts. To protect taxpayers' money, the State Treasurer maintains a separate accounting system to provide a check and balance on the state accounting system, and distributes investment earnings to the proper funds.

The office contracts with Missouri banks to process the state's receipts and disbursements; handle money and security transfers; report on the state's accounts, balances and payment activities; and provide related banking services such as data processing. Bidding for state banking services contracts is open to all Missouri banks.

Investments

The state treasurer determines the amount of state funds not needed for current operating expenses and invests those funds in interest-bearing time deposits in Missouri banks, U.S. treasury and federal agency securities, repurchase agreements, banker's acceptances and top-rated commercial paper. Safety is the treasurer's number one priority in the investment of the public's funds. Staff investment specialists monitor major investment markets and work to maximize the state's return on investments without compromising safety. The office has an average of $3.1 billion invested daily, earning the state millions of dollars in interest income each year.

Missouri First Linked Deposit Program

A portion of the state's investable funds can be used by the Treasurer to help Missouri industries create jobs, to help small businesses grow, to help farmers prosper, and to bring affordable housing within reach of more Missouri families.

Under the MISSOURI FIRST program, the treasurer's office is authorized to place up to $350 million in state funds in Missouri financial institutions and accept a below-market rate of return. The institutions pass on the savings in the form of low-interest loans for agriculture, job creation, small business, drought relief, and affordable multi-family housing.

Unclaimed Property

The treasurer's office is responsible for Missouri's largest "lost and found," the state's Unclaimed Property program. State law requires

Most unclaimed property consists of cash from bank accounts, stocks, bonds, and contents of safe deposit boxes that have been abandoned. It also can include uncollected insurance policy proceeds, government refunds, utility deposits and wages from past jobs. The Unclaimed Property section does not handle real property such as land, houses, cars and boats.

The office currently is holding more than $220 million in unclaimed property and funds in more than 1.5 million owner accounts. All unclaimed property is held in trust by the state forever and can be claimed at any time. To recover unclaimed property, claimants must be either the original owner of the property or a legal heir. All services of the Unclaimed Property program are free of charge.

People can check to see if the Treasurer's Office is holding unclaimed property that may belong to them using its searchable database at www.showmemoney.com.

Dollar$ & $ense

Dollar$ & $ense, created in 1995, is a statewide bank-at-school program available to Missouri elementary schools to teach children to make informed decisions as savers, spenders, borrowers and money managers. It is a partnership program of the State Treasurer's Office, local Missouri financial institutions, the Missouri Council on Economic Education, the Missouri Bankers Association and the Consumer Credit Counseling Service of the Mississippi River Valley.

gram curricula and partnered with a local bank. The bankers arrange in-school banking hours to accept deposits into student accounts. They work with teachers to provide opportunities for students to learn and practice money management skills.

Missouri Saving for Tuition (MO$T)

The state treasurer chairs the Missouri Saving for Tuition or MO$T board. Developed by the State Treasurer's Office in 1999, the MO$T program encourages Missouri families to save for higher education while taking advantage of significant federal and state tax benefits. Accounts can be opened with as little as $25 or $15 through payroll deduction. Contributions of up to $8,000 annually can be deducted from Missouri income taxes and all earnings are free of state and federal income taxes. Funds from MO$T accounts can be used to pay for all eligible educational expenses at virtually any two- or four-year college or university, vocational, technical or professional school anywhere in the country.

MO$T accounts are managed by TIAA-CREF, one of the world's largest and most respected financial management firms. For more information about MO$T, call toll free: 1-888-414-MO$T, or visit the web site at www.missourimost.org.

Boards and Commissions

The state treasurer serves on the governing boards of three large public entities: the Missouri Housing Development Commission, which assists in the creation of affordable housing for low- and moderate-income Missourians; Missouri State Employees' Retirement System, which manages retirement funds for more than 56,000 state employees and retirees; and Board of Fund Commissioners, which issues, redeems and cancels state general obligation bonds and other debt. She also serves on the boards of the Missouri Investment Trust and the Missouri Historical Society.
